

Bomb Threat On CSUN (California State University Northridge).

Written by Tahjeeb Ittehad Kabir

Friday, 05 February 2010 20:31 - Last Updated Friday, 05 February 2010 16:28

---

Bomb Threat On CSUN (California State University Northridge). We have just got a phone call about bomb threat at CSUN rite now and we have heard that a Mass Phone call has been sent out. Student of CSUn has ordered to left class because CSUN has a "bomb threat".

Students are advised to avoid parking structures B3, B5, and the PPM .

The text Message was like this, "from CSUN: Emergency: Noon on Feb. 5th Bomb threat @ B6 parking structure. Avoid north of B5 & PPM area. Police @ scene."

Hope that it's just a threat and nothing more.

CSUN Bomb Threat posted by Dept of Police, " stay clear of N of B5 structure 2 inc the B6 structure & PPM area'

Update: 1:28pm (PT)

"No suspicious item has been seen," Harding added.

A bomb threat Friday on the Cal State Northridge campus prompted school officials to declare an emergency, call a bomb squad and evacuate a section of the campus, but no bomb was found, a police spokeswoman said.

A campus emergency was declared at noon and students and faculty were told via e-mail to stay away from an area north of the B-5 and B-6 parking structures, according to the CSUN Department of Police Services.

Bomb Threat On CSUN (California State University Northridge).

Written by Tahjeeb Ittehad Kabir

Friday, 05 February 2010 20:31 - Last Updated Friday, 05 February 2010 16:28

---

A Los Angeles Police Department bomb squad was sent to the area, near Etiwanda Avenue and Plummer Street, late Friday morning on an unconfirmed report of a bomb in a vehicle, said LAPD Officer April Harding.